

Thinking Europe in terms of neighbourhood:

Results and perspectives of Germany's and Europe's development cooperation with Africa

Panel discussion on May 3, 7–9 p.m. in room H23
(Building RWII)

With:

Dr. Christiane Kraus, Long term Chief Advisor to the Africa Representative of German Chancellor Angela Merkel, Federal Foreign Office and Federal Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development

Dr. Hanza Diman, Founder of the Think Tank Africa Politicum and project manager of the Central Council of the African Community in Germany

Dr. Jane Ayeko-Kümmeth, Academic Coordinator of the Institute of African Studies at the University of Bayreuth

Historically as well as politically, the destinies of Africa and Europe have been closely linked for a long time. In our panel discussion, we want to explore the question of how the issue of social, economic and environmental sustainability is related to Europe's and Africa's security and stability. How can the European hunger for cheap energy and raw materials or the need for migration restrictions be combined with the demand for a partnership of equals? What can new laws on supply and production chains achieve in this context?